

Abstract

The present invention relates to a method of preparing expanded thermoplastic microspheres, comprising charging thermally expandable microspheres into an expansion device comprising rotating feeding means enveloped by a hollow body, and 5 one or more scrapers. The invention further relates to an expansion device for expanding thermoplastic microspheres.